NEWCOMER'S GUIDE TO COMPETITIVE BALLROOM DANCING

Even though Minnesota Ballroom Blast isn't a competitive event, it is modeled after dance competitions. One of the reasons Blast is such a great event is that it gives dancers a safe space to practice in a competition-like setting and receive valuable critiques without actually being judged and ranked. Think of it as a dress rehearsal for the real deal. Many of the dancers here will be competing at Dance Fest on March 7th and 8th at Dancers Studio in Saint Paul.

With that in mind, here is some basic information to get you started on understanding the world of competitive ballroom dancing.

DANCESPORT

Ballroom dancing is a competitive sport with specific rules, structures, and judging criteria. A typical ballroom competition consists of events in various dance styles, age groups, and skill levels.

DANCE STYLES

The following dance styles are featured at most dancesport competitions in the United States:

AMERICAN RHYTHM

Cha Cha
Rumba
Swing
Bolero
Mambo

AMERICAN SMOOTH

Waltz
Tango
Foxtrot
Viennese Waltz

INTERNATIONAL LATIN

Samba
Cha Cha
Rumba
Paso Doble
Jive

INTERNATIONAL STANDARD

Waltz
Tango
Viennese Waltz
Foxtrot
Quickstep

International standard and American smooth share many technical principles, and many couples compete in both styles. In standard, the couple remains in closed dance position throughout each dance. In smooth, they dance in open positions (side by side, shadow, etc.) as well as in closed position.

Although international Latin and American rhythm both include cha cha and rumba, each dance style uses different technique and music tempos.

SKILL LEVELS

In ballroom parlance, the term proficiency level is used to describe the expertise with which a given couple performs—a combination of their training, competition experience, and natural talent.

NEWCOMER

Minnesota Ballroom Blast includes a newcomer level, consisting of single-dance events, which provides dancers new to competing with a level in which they can primarily dance with other newcomers.

SYLLABUS LEVELS

Bronze
Silver
Gold

In each dance style, couples generally begin at the bronze syllabus level and work their way up through silver and gold. Each syllabus level has a list of clearly defined dance steps, or figures. Couples competing in a given syllabus are not allowed to perform figures of a higher proficiency level, although couples competing in silver or gold usually include certain bronze figures in their routines.

OPEN LEVELS

Dancers typically graduate from the syllabus levels on to the open levels. At the open levels, both costume and figure restrictions are lifted, though dancers do still use syllabus figures along with original, non-syllabus choreography.

MIXED PROFICIENCY

Mixed-proficiency events give dancers a unique opportunity to compete with someone at a different level of dancing. Brand-new dancers can dance with people who have been dancing awhile, people who have been dancing for over twenty years can dance with individuals in their first year of dancing, etc. In these partnerships, only the less proficient partner is judged or, in the case of Blast, critiqued.

JUDGING

Judges are certified by various licensing agencies. They are also experienced competitors and instructors. Judging is both an objective and a subjective process. Couples are judged on their technical skill, their interpretation of each dance, and their showmanship. In addition, each adjudicator has his or her own personal standards. For this reason, several adjudicators will judge each event to ensure fairness.

Minnesota Ballroom Blast gives dancers insight into the way these individuals view ballroom dancing, a useful tool for future practice and competition.

COMPETITOR PARTICIPATION

Dancers compete in heats, which are a specific group of competitors competing in a particular event at a specified time (or times, if there will be callbacks). Typically, dancers will receive a program or heat list to let them know approximately what times they'll be expected to compete. Dancers should be prepared to compete at least half an hour before their scheduled heats in case the competition is running ahead of schedule.

When it is time for dancers to compete, they will form a line with their fellow competitors in the designated on-deck area. When their heat is called, they'll find a spot on the floor and dance until the music stops. They'll take a bow and exit the floor. If a heat has a large number of competitors, it is likely there will be a callback process in which the judges select a number of couples to return to the floor and dance again. This process will continue until there are eight or fewer couples (the ideal number is six) remaining on the floor, which will be the final round. Since Minnesota Ballroom Blast is not a competition, there will be no callbacks.

AUDIENCE PARTICIPATION

Many people attending their first ballroom event expect to find the audience sitting in serene dignity, delicately applauding at the completion of each dance. Instead, the spectators are yelling, jumping up and down, and generally carrying on the way they would at any other spectator sport.

Ballroom dancers thrive on audience appreciation. Even if you do not know the first thing about ballroom, you still have an important role to play at an event. Audience participation is not only allowed but is encouraged and welcomed.

Cheer, applaud, and call out the numbers of your favorite couples. Being an active spectator ensures that you'll have a blast!carrying on the way they would at any other spectator sport.

MASTER OF CEREMONIES

GENE BERSTEN

Born in Belarus, Gene Bersten came to the United States as a young child. He began dancing at the age of ten and entered his first ballroom dance competition at the age of thirteen. The thrill of competing inspired Gene to take his dancing career to a new level, and this journey continues today. Gene is a remarkable performer, a ballroom dance champion, and a creative choreographer.

Gene has starred in the most prestigious ballroom dance show in the world, Burn the Floor, and has performed with international superstar singer Akon. In addition to dancing for diabetes prevention, cancer research, and other fundraising events, Gene has performed at the Mall of America, Mystic Lake Casino, Chipotle Headquarters, the Minneapolis Metrodome, the Millennium Hotel, fashion shows, and fine restaurants, totaling over three hundred dance performances.

Beyond Gene's extensive dance achievements, he has also managed Magic Ballroom School of Dance, one of the top ballroom dance schools in the Midwest, known for training highly skilled dancers and representing the new generation of dancesport. Magic Ballroom School of Dance became part of Gene's studio, Dance with Us America, and he continues to nurture skilled dancers at all ages and levels.

MUSIC DIRECTOR

SHANE MEUWISSEN

Shane has been teaching dance in the Twin Cities for over ten years. In that time, he has led students from basic bronze steps to advanced open routines in all four styles. He travels around the country competing pro/am with his students in places like New Orleans, Los Angeles, Ohio, and numerous other cities. In the past few years, Shane has been among the top teachers at numerous competitions, including Twin Cities Open, Wisconsin Dancesport, and others, and has placed in the top ten instructors in the country on the National Dancer's Cup Circuit for several years.

While he believes that dancing should be fun and exciting, he understands that ongoing satisfaction in dancing requires continued improvement in one's dance skills, so he helps his students focus on important technique, from footwork to body ticks, from arm styling to three-dimensional movement. With a strong belief in his students, he continues to work with them and help them become phenomenal dancers.

CRITIQUING PROFESSIONALS

ELENA BERSTEN

At the age of ten, Elena learned rhythmic gymnastics and in 1995 became a Russian gymnastics champion. At the age of twelve, she started learning ballroom and Latin. In the summer of 1998, she and her mother (a former Russian champion) opened the dance studio 21 Century. At age sixteen, Elena went to school for choreography. In her dancing career, Elena won numerous awards for her dancing abilities and won many prestigious Russian championships and titles. At the age of eighteen, she won the Russian formation team competition.

From 2000 to 2005, Elena attended the Orel State Institute of Arts and Culture and received a special certificate as a ballroom instructor. She also attended a Russian university for choreography. From 2003 to 2006, she was invited to be a dancer for Europe's renowned Moscow's Starlight Dancers. She toured in Finland, Sweden, Monte Carlo, and Cyprus. Elena also performed with many celebrities, including Lou Bega, Patricia Kass, Boney M, Touch and Go, and many other great performers. Elena performed on some of the most prestigious stages in Moscow and St. Petersburg. In 2006, she created her own dance show, 21 Century Dance. And from 2008 to 2010, she was invited to perform with Burn the Floor as part of the main couple.

Elena is co-owner of the Trophy Mayor dancesport competition. She is a recognized official judge of Russian Federation DanceSport and is USTA/NDCA-certified as a highly qualified member adjudicator in both international and American styles. She trained many of the junior and youth champions of Russia in her ballroom and Latin club, 21 Vek in Orel, Russia. Now Elena is co-owner and director of Dance with Us America, which is considered to be one of the best ballroom and Latin dance studios in the Midwest.

CRITIQUING PROFESSIONALS

JULIE JACOBSON

Julie Jacobson has been teaching, competing, and coaching in the ballroom dance world for over twenty years. She is a familiar face at competitions around the country and holds the United States Professional Nine-Dance Champion title for the year 2000 and three Ohio Star Ball Professional Nine-Dance titles. As a founding member of Beyond Ballroom Dance Company, she helped realize an artistic dream that takes ballroom dancing from the competitive arena to the theater stage. Her favorite dance partners are her wonderful husband, Ken, and adorable children, Olivia and Daniel. When she's not dancing, Julie loves cooking, drawing, yoga, and skiing.

KATE BRATT

It is often said that you will hear Kate Bratt long before you see her. Kate's fun-loving personality, animated gestures, attention to detail, and copious supply of knowledge make her the ideal instructor for both new and experienced dancers. Kate has been teaching ballroom dance for fifteen years, after having gotten "too old" for elite gymnastics. During her matriculation at the University of Minnesota studying the über-useful history of art, she heard some salsa music on the radio and ran to the nearest dance studio. For several years, she competed as a student in pro/am competitions and in strictly amateur events as well, placing at the top of the nation in smooth, rhythm, and standard. After winning the scholarship division at the prestigious Holiday Classic in Las Vegas, she turned pro and danced the American rhythm style for six years, making finals at most competitions around the nation. When she met Gordon and decided to partner (and get married), they committed to dancing both American rhythm and smooth in the well-rounded American nine-dance division. Kate and Gordon, along with three lovely daughters, travel the country dancing while running the new Mill City Ballroom in St. Paul, MN. Kate also composes content for the blog "Riot and Frolic" to keep sleeping hours to a minimum.

MARIUSZ OLSZEWSKI

Mariusz Olszewski is a native of Poland and a ballroom artist who has coached and choreographed for top-ranking ballroom dance couples, including two professional world American smooth champions, US Rising Star smooth champions, Ohio Star Rising Star Latin champions, and Polish amateur and professional Latin champions. He is a founding member of the Beyond Ballroom Dance Company and served as its rehearsal and artistic co-director.

Since arriving in the United States in 1996, Mariusz has performed at the biggest dance festivals and on such prominent stages as Kennedy Center in Washington, DC, the Joyce Theater in New York, and the Guthrie Theater in Minneapolis. He choreographed for and collaborated with several dance companies, including Zenon Dance Company, Minnesota Dance Theater, and James Sewell Ballet.

Additionally, for the past five seasons, Mariusz has been a featured choreographer on the Polish version of the hit TV show So You Think You Can Dance. He created a record number of thirty routines for So You Think You Can Dance - Poland and specializes in ballroom, jazz, and contemporary dance styles.

Mariusz is the recipient of a 2005 McKnight Artist Fellowship for Dancers. His life motto is: "I live to dance; I dance to live."

JENNIFER AND ROBERT FOSTER

The Fosters met at a Minneapolis dance studio in 1986 and won their first US Rising Star title in 1989. Since then, they've raked in accolades; they're three-time US Professional Theatre Arts Champions; US, World, and British Cabaret Finalists; and four-time US Professional Rhythm Finalists. They are also among the first in Minnesota to have US Pro/Am Champion students, which they accomplished many times over with now seven-time US Amateur Smooth Champions Nels Petersen and Theresa Kimler.

Jennifer and Robert are nationally known and sought-after judges, and they devote a lot of their time and energy to their students. Over the years, they've coached students, many of them with no previous dance experience, to become champions in their own right. The Fosters love teaching, and their philosophy is that with patience and hard work, anything can be achieved.

CRITIQUING PROFESSIONALS

LISA VOGEL

Lisa Vogel nourished her love for dance from a young age, training across a broad range of styles, including ballet, modern and contemporary, and ballroom. In 2009 she was recognized with the National Dance Council of America Community Service Award for volunteer work teaching dance to underprivileged youth in Juarez, Mexico.

Lisa received her BFA in dance from Arizona State University, where she was the recipient of academic and artistic awards. Most recently, she has returned from a year abroad having graduated with an MA in contemporary dance performance from the Irish World Academy of Music and Dance in Limerick, Ireland, as a beneficiary of the Stepping Stone Scholarship.
